

US legal definition of a Bona fide resident:

A bona fide residency requirement asks a person to establish that he or she actually lives in a certain location. This can be established by the address listed on the driver's license, voter registration card, income tax return and the like.

This should clear up the cemetery ordinance 76-9-02B of a "bona fide" resident when selling of a plot or lot.